DETECTIVES TRACKED HER HUSBAND, for Divorce. CHICAGO, Aug. 26.-Thirteen years ago Jennie

S. Sheldon was married to Wallace C. Edler. a member of the firm of Musee & Co., importers of laces in New York. To-day the wife filed a bill for divorce. The bill shows that on March 1 last Mrs. Edler left her husband because, she said, he had been guilty of improper conduct with had been guilty of improper conduct with various women in New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois.

Attorney Reeves said:

"My client, who is now residing with her mother, Mrs. I. M. Sheldon of 162 Oakland Boulevard, is favorably known in New York and Chicago society. When she was married to Mr. Edler it was quite an event.

When Mr. Edler commenced to take regular trips out of New York, ostensibly to visit his numerous customers, Mrs. Edler employed a detective. In various cities Mr. Edler visited women. On arrival in this city Mr. Edler regulatered at the Paimer House, and the same evening drove down Prairie avenue, followed by the sleuth. Edler entered a well-known residence. A Chicago millionaire's wife greeted him.

Through a window the detective witnessed the scene, and later saw the couple go to an upper chamber. It was 10 o'clock the next morning when Mr. Edier returned to his hotel. Mrs. Edier does not know how much her husband's business is worth, but is positive he carns over "$7.080 a year." "$7,080 a year."

Lawyer Beeves refused to disclose the corespondent's name, saying he must first secure an attachment in order to keep the person from leaving town.

HE ESCAPED THE GALLOWS.

But His Career Was Ended Yesterday by His Being Behended by the Cars, MIDDLETOWN. N. Y., Aug. 26.—The career of John Kief, who was a prisoner in the Madison county jail for eight years, under sentence of death for the murder of Joseph Howard of Peterboro. N. Y., has ended, his head having been severed from his body by the cars at Canastota. He was a noted character, and his experience was unparalleled in history. He was arrested with Mrs. Howard over eight rears ago. charged with the poisoning of Farmer Howard, and the trial of the woman, which occurred first, resulted in her acquittal, although the evidence was plainly against her, and the presiding Judge repulsed the jury for their verdiet. Hief was tried at the following term of court, found guilty, and sentenced to be hanged. Then his case underwent a series of appeals and arguments until it reached the highest court, where a new trial was granted, but the most important witnesses for the prosecution had died in the mean time. Madison county failed to make provision for the trial and the Court ordered the prisoner discharged. There was no evidence to prove that filef administered the poison, although he purchased strychnine on several occasions. Illa jail experience did not reform him, and after his release he continued his had career until death ended it. He was a handsome young fellow and might have led an honorable and successful life had not his admiration for other men's wives led him into crime. first, resulted in her acquittal, although the

which is credited with being the swiftest of the Sandy Hook fleet. The Monmouth, Capt. Martin says, has covered the water space between her pier and the Atlantic Highlands, a a distance of twenty-one and one-half land miles, in about fifty-five minutes. Capt. Martin believes that the Feiseen can zer over the same space in about forty-two minutes, or at the rate of about thirty miles an hour.

The Feiseen attracted much attention from the crowded deeks of the Monmouth. The impression seemed to be general among the passengers that the little mahogany flyer was out to give the twin-screw steamboat a tussle. It wasn't much of a tussle; it was a walkover. The Feiseen, apparently without exertion, kept on the port bow of the Monmouth on her way down the bay. Capt. Martin had given instructions to his engineer to let the Monmouth of for all she was worth. The engineer, however, did not need any instructions. The little steam yacht dashed toward the Narrows. When abreast of Quarantine she turned, and, describing a Circle probably a quarter of a mile in diameter, permitted the Monmouth to come up on her starboard hand. The cinher that she had woven in evanescent foam indicated to the enthusiants aboard of her that she expected to give the Sandy Hook boat a round O. SUPPOSED ROBBERS ARRESTED. Three Men Held Here for Complicity in a

There are three prisoners at Police Headquarters who are believed to belong to the gang of thieves who on Aug. 14 stole $5,000 in gold from the First National Bank of St. Paul. A messenger of the Merchants' Bank of St. Paul had been sent to the First National Bank with a bag containing the money in $20 gold pleces. Three men followed him through the streets, and two of them entered the First National just behind him. When the messenger laid the bag on the shelf of the receiving teller's window one of the thieves grabbed it and made off, the second thief knocking the messenger down, to prevent pursuit. Both of the robbers were lost in the midday crowd that thronged the street in front of the bank before a hand could be raised to stop them.

The receiving teller identified the photo graphs of two crooks-Thomas Fleury and Benjamin Miller—as the men who had followed the messenger into the bank, and one Henry Morris was identified as having been seen hurrying through the streets with a bag simiar in appearance to the one stolen. Further investigation led to the conclusion that quite gang was concerned in the robbery. On Aug. 15 a man named Joseph Howard was arrested in the belief that he was the third man who find followed the messenger. When searched $500 in $20 gold pieces was found on him.

John J., alias Charles Meggs, another crook, was then suspected of complicity in the case.

John J., alias Charles Meggs, another crook, was then suspected of compileity in the case. It was discovered that he had left St. Paul on the night of the robbery with a lot of baggage. Before going he chanked a quantity of gold for bills, and he paid in gold a railroad man who assisted him to carry his trunks. Meggs was traced to Chicage, and in following him the detectives ran across Fleury. Both were arrested and brought back to St. Paul.

On Aug. 18 Inspector McLaughiln received a letter from the St. Paul police accompanied by the photographs of Fleury. Miller, and Henry Morris. The letter gave the details of the robbery, and the inspector caused a sharp lookout to be kept here for the thieves and their baggage. On Friday he was rewarded by obtaining information that led him to believe that the baggage was at the American Express Company's offices at Forty-eighth sireet and Vanderbilt avenue. Detective Sorgeants Wade and Hanley, disguised as porters, went there to watch for the persons who should come to claim the suspected luggage. Not long after a solitary claimant arrived, but departed in haste when the cierk refused to give up the trunks. The detectives followed him to the corner, where he was joined by two other men. All three were arrested. At Pollee Headquarters the man who had applied for the baggage said ho was Henry Cohen. 29 years old. He was jednified by the photograph as Miller. AUBURN, Aug. 20.-Fred Ferris, an Elmira transfer, has either escaped from Auburn prison or is in hiding within its walls. The prison authorities are inclined to believe that he is stowed away.

Ferris was not missed until locking-up time but it is now known that he left the gang with with which he was working at least an hour earlier. He had been helping the masons who are engaged in rebuilding the burned shops in At about 4 o'clock a man, who afterward proved to be the fugitive, was seen crossing the yard, going toward the wagon gate. He was attired in overalls, a mason's blouse, and one in oversity in the cap.

In the search which followed the discovery of his absence, the man's prison garb was found secreted beneath the marble shop. A thorough search of the yard, has been made without avail. This is Ferris's third attempt to escape since he arrived from the reformatory, two years ago.

W. Westinke Sues for $50,000.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.-The Adams and Westlake Company was made defendant in a suit brought in the Circuit Court to day for $50.-000 damages by William Westlake.

The plaintiff was the originator of the Adams and Westlake Manufacturing Company, a Michigan corporation, which was dissolved ten years ago and merged into the defendant company, with headquarters in Chicago. Westcompany, with headquarters in Chicago. West-lake severed his connection with the concern and went to Brooklyn, where he is now en-gaged in the manufacture of railway engine supplies on patents of his own.

For two years his husiness was tied up by an injunction sued by the delendant comfany re-straining the use of his name as a trade mark. The injunction was subsequently dissolved, and now Westlake brings suit to recover for damages to his business by reason of the re-straining order.

City Officials Charged with Being a Mob. TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 26.-Mayor Puson, the several Councilmen, reënforced by thirty men of the Tacoma Light and Water Company, and forcibly took tools, pipe, and machinery, valued at $50,000, which the city says belongs it, and which the company has refused to transfer. The water company says that the city officials were an unlawful mob, and will probably sue for heavy damages. THE FAIR BARNUMIZED.

As the entertainment progressed other messages from prominent men in various parts of the country were received by telephone, telegraph, phonograph, and by carrier. Every hour of the day brought about a new attraction for the visitors. There was diving attraction for the visitors. There was diving in the lagoons, a water battle between two crews with nozzles fed from the big pumps, a parade of the Bedouins, a battle of the royal horse marines, greased pole contests, and scores of similar circus attractions. The Worthington pumps distributed lemonade free to all, and special exhibitions of machinery were had in regular order. The chimes rang and the bands played all day and night, and the big Fair was Barnumized to the fullest extent.

JERSEY CITY'S DEAD CRAB EATERS.

investigation of the four sudden deaths in Jersey City supposed to have been caused by eating crabs. Dr. Converse said last night he understood that proper certificates had been filed in each case by the attending physicians. and that cholora morbus was given as the cause of death. Dr. Converse added that it was his duty to investigate cases of death when there was reason to believe that crime hadbeen committed. Cases of suspected contanious disease did not come within his jurisdiction.

City Physician Everett, who investigated the case of Mrs. Caroline Collins of 233 McAdoo avenue, said that her symptoms were those of cholera.

nvenue, said that her symptoms were those of cholera.

"I'll were the Health Officer of the port of New York," he said, "and that case was on a ship, I would pronounce it Asiatic cholera. Cholera morbus very seldom proves fatal, and I do not believe these people died of cholera morbus. If it was not cholera. I think they wast have been poisoned."

There is a general belief now that the most of the crabs were dead before they were cooked and consequently were unfit to eat, some of them were probably alive when they were put into the boiling water, and that would account for the fact that some of the people who participated in the feasts were not affected.

Articles of incorporation of the Electric Express Company have been filed in the Hudson press Company have been filed in the Hudson county. N. J., Clerk's office. New Mexico Wants to Be a State. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 26.—A convention will be held here on Sept. 26 to memorialize Congress for the admission of New Mexico as a State.

not to have said. At that meeting Timmerman is reported to have said: We are gathered here to protest against the doom of the unemployed. The bosses give us no work. They are murderers: The capitalists are worse than murderers! Look upon them ! Consider them as they are Rirect murderers! The time has come when we must go to the capitalists and shout for bread and labor. If you do not, and if you allow yourselves to be bessed, one hundred thousand of you will be thrown out starying onto the streets every day. You are hungry! Yes, you are hungry! Go and get your bread! Get your bread! Go and get it where you worked for those who now have too much! Labor created wealth. Our labor has made wealthy those who are rich to-day. You have a right to the wealth you created. Take it! If you cannot take it otherwise, then take it by force! When this was reported to Mr. Byrnes he ex-tuted an act tending to a breach of the peace.

Mr. Byrnes took his evidence to the District Attorney and submitted it for legal advice, That official agreed with the Superintendent of Police, and thereupon the legal invitation for Mr. Timmerman was prepared and given by Mr. Byrnes to Detective Sergeants Jacob and Krausch to serve.

They located the young man early Friday afternoon, but for their own reasons did not arrest him until after midnight yesterday morning. He was then found in Tompkins square, and when he was told that he was "wanted." seemed to know what for. He went quigtly with the officers, who took him to the Tombs, which retreat he had the honor of entering by a private door.

Timmerman is young, elight, tall, has a long hooked nose, and wears eveglasses. He is reported to be the editor of the Brandfackel, the Anarchistic sheet started by Emma Goldman's lover. Bergman, the assailant of Mr. He, too, is said to be a lover of the Goldman woman, and to have recently lived with her in an East Fifteenth street tenement, between Avenues A and B.

When Timmerman was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court yesterday he said he was an artist modeler, although in an interview with a Sun reporter a month ago he said he with a Sun reporter a month ago ne said ne was a drugglait's clerk, and politically an "Autonomiet." not an Anarchist. Hethen held the sanguliary views that the death of all capitalists and reporters would be a distinct gain for the rest of mankind.

The present charge against him is based on the complaint of Charles Jacob of 300 Mulberry street, one of the officers who arrested him, who deposes and says:

When this was read to Timmerman in Court resterday ne answered, speaking in German: "I merely laid the matter before the people. It loid them what would happen if they allowed things to go on as they were going. That there would be famine, there would be integer, there would be famine, there would be negative these things, which otherwise were sure to come, and if they did not it would be necessary for them to do those things which you say."

void be dearth, and I state to the vide against those things, which otherwise were sure to come, and if they did not it would be necessary for them to de those things which you say."

"What things 7" the Justice asked.

"Those things which you charge me with."

"Are you guilty or not guilty?"

After a moment's healtation the prisoner answere! "Not guilty."

Illis bail was itxel at $5,000. When he was being led down stairs Timmerman turned to the reporters and said. "When I made my speech I expected apprehension, but I do not fear the result."

Throughout the court proceedings he seemed to consider his role heroic. He had no bondsman roady. Timmerman came to this country from Germany ten years ago, and until the winter of 1891, when he came to this city, he lived in St. Louis.

Mr. Byrnes declined yesterday to give the names of the other Anarchists for whom warrants have been issued, and declined to say "yea" or "my" when asked if his officers were looking for Emma Goldman. That young woman has been very much not at home since Mr. Byrnes's return.

Emma stocke on Thursday night in Washington Hall, itsi Thefford avenue, Brownsville, in the Twenty-sixth ward of Broeklyn. The owners of the hall are Hobinsky & Schulzky. While she was speaking, Joseph Burondess was holding another meeting in Palmer's Casino, Eastern Farkway and Watkins street, Brownsville, it was sires that they had to call the police to have the meeting closed.

Emma Goldman and the Anarchists in Brownsville, it was said yesterday, used to hold meetings in Flower Hall, Osborne street and Belmont avenue. New the Anarchist meetings are generally held in the sweat shops, no one knowing where they are to be held except the initiated.

It has been represented by some newspaper writers, who are possibly recently landed immigrants, that the police of New York have forbidden the Anarchists, if there are any Anarchists, if they want to hold meetings. Superintendent Byrnes said yesterday.

"Even Anarchists, if there are any Anarchists, if they want to hold a servant employed by Alexander G. Snedeker county inil to-day on a charge of ataon. Mr. Sinceker accused her of having set firs to his barns and outbuildings. They were burned to the ground, and it was with difficulty that the house and the cattle in the buildings were saved. Lillie says that she was playing with matches, when one of them fell and set fire to some straw in the barn.

NANCY AND BUDD.

BORN IN A JERSEY CITY STREET The Child's Mother Will Not Tell the Name

Policeman Bergman at 1 o'clock yesterday morning came across a young woman at the corner of Montgomery and Henderson streets. Jersey City, who had just given birth to a boy. An ambulance was summened, and mother and child were taken to the City Hospital, where they are both doing well. The mother gave her name as Carrie Milton. She is about 25 years old and remarkably pretty. She refused to tell the name of the child's father, although sie said she was married.

The young woman came from Philadelphia six weeks ago and engaged a room in Mrs. Jeannette Richter's house, 72% York street. She told Mrs. Richter that she was unmarried. When Mrs. Richter that she was unmarried to be married to a Philadelphian, who kept putting their marriage off from time to time until she finally discovered, accidentally, that he was a married man.

She was on a horse car with her lover, in this city, when a woman entered the car and accosted him, claiming him as her husband. The woman said she had come all the way from Europe to find him. The man did not deny the woman's statement. They want away together and Miss Milton was left to make her way hack to Philadelphia alone. She saw her lover once after that, and he told her that he would make everything right, but he has been lodged in jail on the complaint of his wife. Miss Milton helloves he intends to get a divorce from his wife as acon as he is released and marry her. She positively refuses to give the man's name, 25 years old and remarkably pretty. She re-
